RELIABLE, COST-EFFECTIVE MARINE TRANSPORTATION SERVICES BETWEEN SEATTLE, HAWAII, AND ALASKA

"Providing dependable Tug-and-Barge Freight service to Hawaii, since 1987"

Our common carrier service to Hawaii includes:

Northland's Aloha Cargo Transport division maintains an "every other week" sailing schedule between Seattle and Honolulu. This Jones Act carrier service provides both break-bulk and containerized cargo transport - offering a low cost alternative to steamship service. ACT carries cargo destined for all communities in Hawaii. Cargo for Neighbor Islands is shuttled from Oahu via connecting carrier services or, for large project shipments, by diversion of the mainline barge. For any commodity we offer port-to-port and port-to-door capabilities from Seattle, or we'll arrange door-to-door shipment from anywhere on the mainland.

In the Alaska market, Northland operates a year-round service to South central and Southeast Alaska, helping to meet the needs of the State's largest population centers. Nearly 200 other Alaskan communities are serviced on a seasonal basis; often wholly dependent on Northland as a sole provider of cargo service to the remote areas of Western Alaska.

OUR CAPABILITIES:

CARGOES: We move a wide variety of goods -- from machinery and construction materials to containerized products. We particularly excel in handling oversized cargo--large and heavy equipment, tanks, off-road machinery, modular buildings, and more.

EQUIPMENT: Our extensive container fleet consists of 20', 40', 48' and 53' steel shipping containers. Break bulk-cargo is built into lifts and shipped on our 20', 24', and 40' steel platforms. Liquid bulk, dry pneumatic tanks, and other specialized equipment can generally be made available upon request for more unique service requirements.

CONSOLIDATION / TERMINAL OPERATIONS: Consolidation service is provided for customers with materials arriving from multiple suppliers. Break-bulk and containerized cargo flows smoothly through our 70 acre intermodal terminal in Seattle, designed to efficiently handle cargo arriving by rail, by truck, or by water. This facility is privately operated and we afford shippers the service of loading containers or flat-racks right at the vessel loading facility, unlike the other container carriers.

CUSTOMER SERVICE: ACT's customer service representatives are available toll free (800-327-7739) to assist with pricing, cargo booking, or other information. In addition, we have developed extensive internet capabilities which enable a shipper to track shipments, run a variety of customized reports, obtain optically scanned copies of related documentation, and more.
