

Applied Global Technologies®

_ Conferencing the World

Applied Global Technologies™ is an emerging leader in the conferencing and communications industry with divisions in hardware resale and integration, professional engineering services with full turnkey support, and cutting-edge software development. Applied Global takes the enterprise vision of fully integrated IP networks and applies it as an effective solution for today's progressive and agile businesses.

Through AGT's solutions-based service, VCAS.net™, and its patent-pending software, VCAS™, Applied Global offers businesses a revolutionary step in video conferencing functionality and performance. With its Network Aware Scheduling™, centralized Room Control™ and Network Management™ tools, Applied Global takes collaborative business to the next level of performance. These advanced tools offer ease-of-use for the end user, centralized management for the IT department and expense reduction for the entire organization.

The AGT solution takes the complex and makes it simple. Whether it requires the integration of hundreds of devices covering thousands of miles of unique network architecture or maximizing bandwidth in a single office complex, Applied Global gets to the root of the issue and builds effective solutions.

In addition to its work in the commercial marketplace, the ten-year old private corporation provides conferencing solutions to the Pentagon, branches of the US Military and civilian agencies, as well as numerous federal and state government facilities. The company's continued advancement in communications is being felt around the world.

Applied Global's international headquarters is located near NASA in Rockledge, FL with field support offices in Atlanta, Los Angeles, San Diego, Seattle, Virginia Beach, and Washington, DC.

AGT matches its strong service organization with hardware and software tools in order to deliver the complete solution for business collaboration.
