

THE SRS VISION

Understanding the importance of California's increasing need of real estate development and building growth, the State has set forth Uniform Building Code Standards, for all applicable trades. SRS specializes in OSHA compliance assistance from building design through exterior building maintenance operations.

SRS maintains a unique position as an innovator within the Safety Engineering and Consulting field. It's founders were all instrumental in the creation and implementation of several current OSHA safety regulations.

The SRS founders, through their many industry related affiliations have set forth far reaching goals, in order to achieve a higher level of professionalism, within a much maligned field.

The Exterior Building Maintenance Industry, has under gone dramatic regulatory changes within the past 25 years. Many of these changes, were made without the direct participation of the effected parties.

Our goal, is to provide our clients and Exterior Building Maintenance Industry Professionals with single source unbiased solutions. This reality is what the industry is coming to. In order to raise the level of safety, professionalism and respect, we must recognize that The Future is Now!
