

ONLINE FORMULARIES AND PHARMACY NEWS

Make the Most of Your Formulary.

FormWeb™ turns the usual hassle of keeping an up-to-date formulary into an opportunity to increase accuracy, improve efficiency, and expand usability.

By embracing technology and utilizing an interactive format, you can create a powerful, flexible communications tool for your entire hospital.

With FormWeb you can

- bring your formulary to the Internet, your intranet, and personal digital assistants
- link to your purchased, proprietary drug information such as Micromedex or Clinical Pharmacology
- publish news, warnings, updates, and notes instantly
- JCAHO compliance for formularies

Formularies to go.

With FormWeb, anyone in your hospital system can download your formulary to their PDA. Then every time their PDA is synched, the information is updated.

The FormWeb Formula.

From databases on a computer network server that we maintain, FormWeb puts your formulary exactly where you need it. With some clients, that is a password-protected site on the Internet. For others, we simply integrate FormWeb into your already existing intranet system. Either way, the information is always available, immediately updated, and constantly backed-up and protected.

You are in Control.

Beginning with two simple training sessions and followed by assistance whenever you need it, FormWeb makes you the master of your online formulary.

Our easy-to-use FormWeb Editor allows pharmacy directors complete control over the formulary via a password-protected interface. This includes modifying the FormWeb configuration and using QuickPrint to output the formulary on paper, either alphabetically or by therapeutic categories, for those without computers.

The way it works.

Online Formulary.

Two primary sections comprise all customized FormWeb interfaces. The first is the Formulary section, the place to post and view the list of drugs in your formulary.

This section includes the following functions:

Drug listing: Looking up drugs can be done two ways-search for a specific or partial name or browse all drugs beginning with a specific letter.

High Alert listing: By clicking the high alert link, the user can see a list of drugs you designate as High Alert.

Therapeutic Categories: With this function, users can search for a drug within specific therapeutic categories.

Information Databases: FormWeb integrates seamlessly with leading drug information providers such as Clinical Pharmacology and Micromedex.

Pharmacy News.

The second section is Pharmacy News, where users will find the following functions:

Home Page: On the home page, the user will find an introduction to FormWeb and the top three news stories that have been published.

News Page: Lists all the news articles that have been published by the pharmacy that you, the editor, have entered; including announcements, shortages, newsletters, and meeting notes.

Discussion Boards: The pharmacy is able to designate discussion boards as private (password protected) or open boards for best practices or P&T committee discussions.

Pharmacy Links/Additional Pages: FormWeb gives you the ability to have unlimited links to Internet or Intranet sites and publish your own web pages.

PDA Download: FormWeb can be configured to download your drug formulary information to any personal digital assistant.

We Put Your Formulary First.

Formulary Productions has been a trusted resource for hospital pharmacists since 1990. From our beginning as a printing partner for customized formulary handbooks, we have always sought ways to make formularies more efficient and useful. This spirit of advancement led us some years ago to the Internet, where we developed a simple solution to the complex challenge of creating and editing hospital formularies.

By working with our clients to understand their needs, we have developed several formats to help pharmacy directors and P&T committees make their formularies more easily accessible and useful. As you would expect, FormWeb also helps you meet many JCAHO requirements.

Try FormWeb Right Now.

→ Visit www.formularyproductions.com for our hands-on working demo and easy-to-understand tutorial. You'll see all the useful applications that only FormWeb can bring you.

Formulary Productions

2670 Union Extended, Suite 905 • Memphis, Tennessee 38112
800-467-1907 • 901-323-1413 • Fax: 901-323-1407

www.formularyproductions.com • email: info@formularyproductions.com